ASSEMBLY

You will need: lamination, velcro, and something to bind the book with (binding machine or rings are recommended).

Assembly: Print pages 4-11 in color, one sided. Cut out book pages and laminate (the last page of the book page [on slide 9] has a symbol holder attached, don't cut this part off!). Cut out flaps, [slides 10 & 11] and laminate. Line up the flaps in the middle of the page over picture (see photo) and staple them on the top (white tab). You can also use clear tape on both sides of the flap (I like using tape better). Cut out the picture symbols [slide 10], laminate and attach soft velcro to the back. Attach scratchy velcro to the squares on the symbol holder and the blank squares on the book pages. Store the picture symbols on the symbol holder page. Bind the book on the left side with binding or rings.

HOW TO USE

Read the book to the student. At the top of each page, the student is to look in the lunchbox to see if it is a peanut butter and jelly sandwich. The student is then prompted to lift the flap and look. They will then answer yes/no (verbally or by pointing to the symbol). The student then will match the picture symbols to the box in the phrase and verbalize the phrase ("I found a _____"). Tapping the boxes as they say it (model when appropriate) encourages verbalization!

Comprehension page: Use a bingo dotter, marker, or crayon to color the answers to the questions.

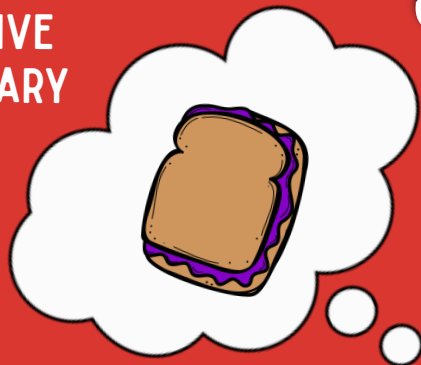

Color-A-Lunch Scene Dice Game: Roll the dice and color the part of the picture by the number you rolled! Keep rolling until the whole picture is colored.

Read & Color: I use this page as a reinforcer for the vocabulary. After each page in the book, the student will color the food they found on the page.

Jenna's Lunch

AN INTERACTIVE
VOCABULARY
BOOK

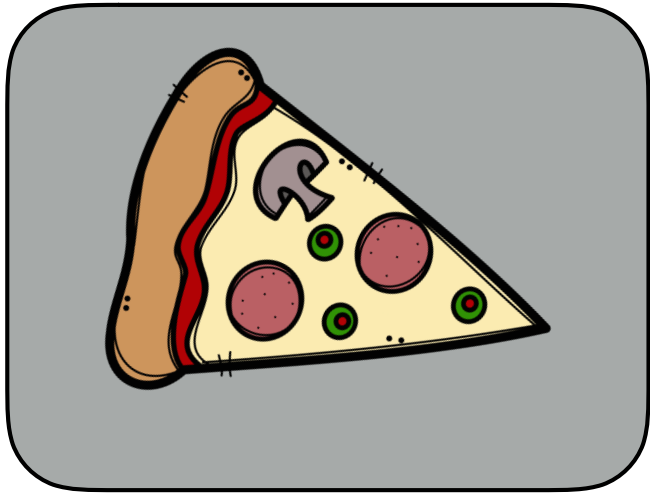

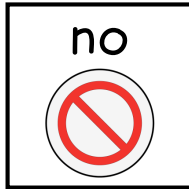

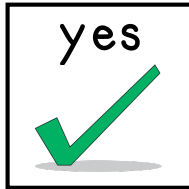

It is lunch time on the first day of school and eight students brought red lunchboxes! Jenna doesn't know which one is hers.

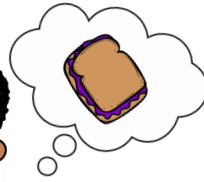

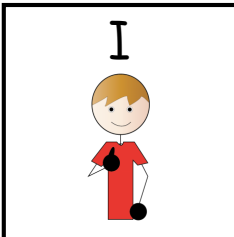

Her mom packed her a peanut butter and jelly sandwich. Help her look inside each lunchbox to find it!

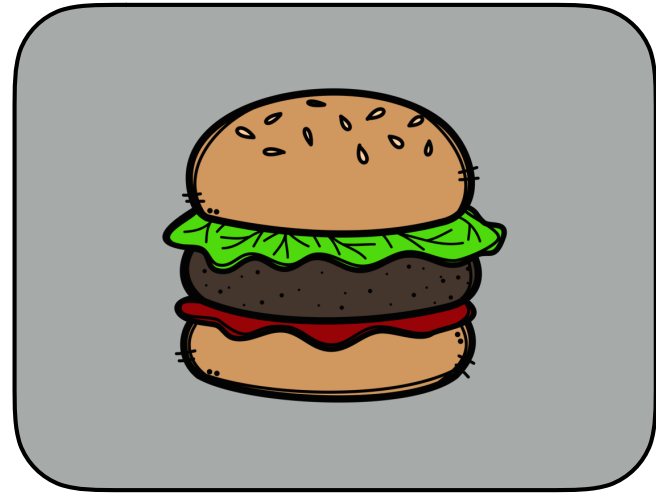

Look in the lunchbox.
Is this Jenna's lunch?

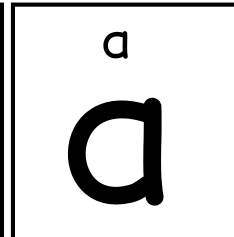

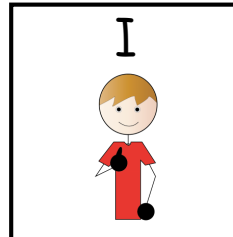

What did you find?

Good job! You helped Jenna find her lunchbox! Jenna has unpacked her lunch and is ready to eat. Look at all of the other things that her mom packed for her. Can you name them?

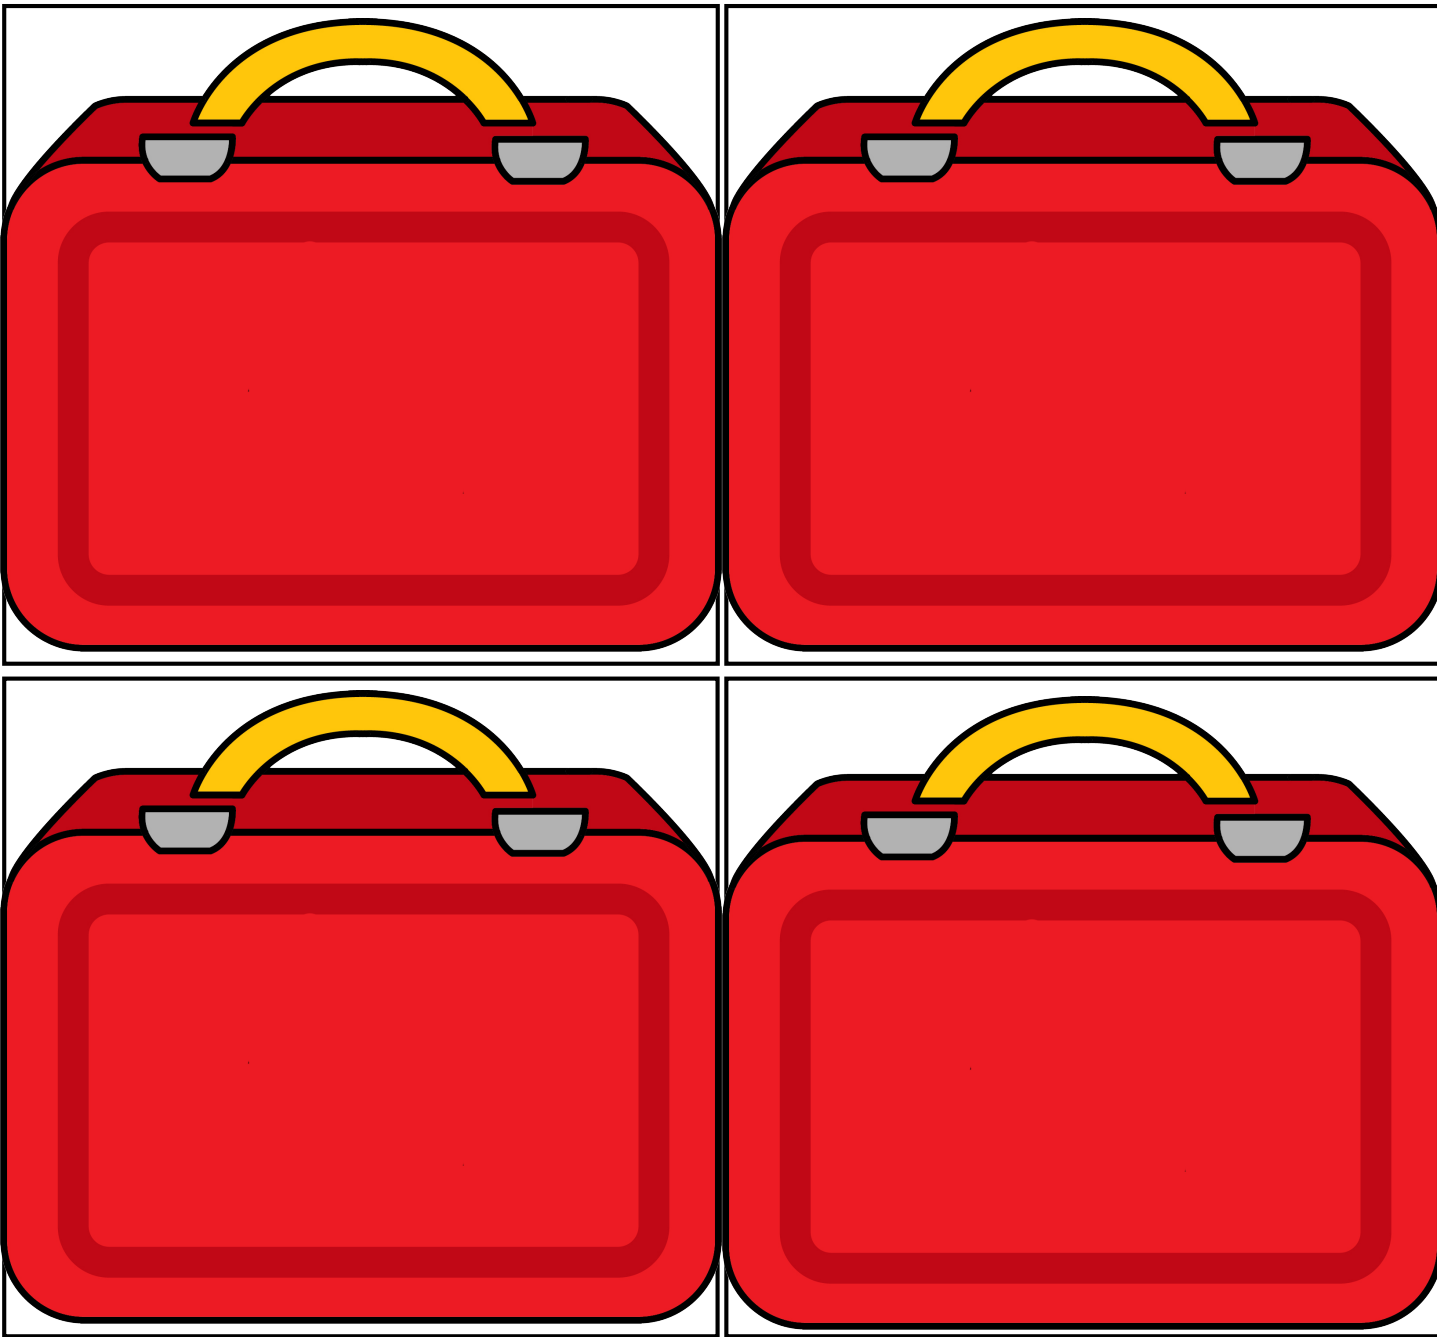

The End

Cut out the flaps and attach them to the book pages with clear tape on both sides (or staple). Cut out the picture symbols and attach soft velcro to the back.
